of Falmouth, gained

early this morning, starting in the Odd Fellow's hall, spreading to and destroying the general store owned by Alfred Collyer and destroying the residences of S. D.

Davison and Quincey Rees. The estimated loss was placed at from $17,000 to $20,000.

The exact cause of the fire is not known, but it is presumed that it was started by smokers attending the dance, which was given on the first floor of the Odd Fellows building last night. The dance closed about midnight.

The fire was noticed by Mr. Davison, whose house was north of the store and hall, and he gave the alarm. By the time neighbors had gathered, the fire was gaining ground very fast, and the place underneath of the stairway and stage of the hall was a mass of flames. It was discovered about 12:45 and efforts to save the I. O. O. F. building were abandoned, and bucket brigades turned to saving nearby houses and stores.

The I. O. O. F. hall is located in the center of the town in the northeast jog of the county line road, and was in Fayette county. The general store owned by Mr. Collyer was about 20 feet north of the hall, and the flames soon reached this building. The stock of merchandise was very heavy and Mr. Collyer estimated this morning that he had $10,000 worth of stock. His loss was the greatest of any, and while much of the stock was carried out before the fire reached it, nevertheless people forgot about his stock room in the rear of the building, and everything there, including automobile oils, threshers supplies, linseed oil and hardware, was a total loss.

The Collyer building was a two story structure, 36 by 50, and the upper part was also used as a store room. The insurance carried by Mr. Collyer was very slight, considering his loss, and he estimated his loss over and above the insurance, to be between $6,000 and $7,000. The insurance which he carried amounted to $4,100, $3,000 of which was on the stock, $1,000 on the building and $100 on the fixtures.

The residence of Quincey Rees was just north of the Collyer store, and soon burned to the ground. The household goods were saved. Mr. Rees is a farm laborer, and the loss was very heavy for him. He carried $600 insurance.

The home of S. D. Davison, just around the corner to the east of the I. O. O. F. hall, was also destroyed, but the household goods were saved. Mr. Davison's insurance amounted to $900.

When the fire was at its worse, citizens thought that the entire town would be consumed, and it was by heroic work of the bucket brigade that other places were not destroyed. The Red Men's hall, which was only a few feet from the residence of Rees', was on fire several times, and much credit is due Verne

SHOWERS PROMISED TO BREAK HEAT WAVE

Thunder Storms are Predicted For Tonight, Followed by Cooler
Weather on Sunday

HIGH TEMPERATURE FOR YEAR

Local thundershowers are promised by the weatherman for tonight and tomorrow to break the heat wave which has held this section of the country in its grip for several days.

Following record-breaking temperatures, for this year, on the Fourth of July, the hot spell showed no inclination of breaking today, with thermometers showing temperatures ranging all the way from ninety-two to ninety-five degrees. Clouds appeared in the sky today and some hope was held out for a thundershower as promised.

Picnickers sweltered in the hottest weather of the summer yesterday, but it did not deter scores from taking long automobile drives to attend Fourth celebrations and to enjoy a day in the woods. Farmers are especially anxious for rain even though they are in the midst of hay harvest, because the corn and grass crops are sadly in need of moisture.

MURDERER SAYS HE'S SON OF SENATOR NEW

Man Giving His Name as Harry S.
New Admits Killing Frieda Lesser Near Burbank, Calif.

WHY HE COMMITTED CRIME

(By United Press.)

Los Angeles, Calif., July 5.—Harry S. New, who says he is the son of United States Senator Harry S. New of Indiana, by a divorced wife, sat in the cell at the city jail today telling how he had murdered Miss Frieda Lesser, whom he was to have married tonight.

He stated that when Miss Lesser said, as they were walking along the dark Topanga Canyon road near Burbank last night, that she would go to the operating table instead of the altar in order that she would not become the mother of his child, he shot her. Then he went on to give all the possible aid in clearing the case for the police.

New declared that Miss Lesser had never told him much of her parents but said her father's name was Emil Lesser, who was supposed to have committed suicide two years ago in Venice, California, while being sought for violation of the espionage act.

The department of justice agents said that they are still searching for a man named Emil Lesser, who was reported to have killed himself two years ago.

Senator Will Not Talk.

Washington, July 5.—"I cannot discuss the matter," Senator Harry S. New, of Indiana, declared today when asked what he knew of the man arrested in Los Angeles for murder giving the name of Harry S. New and claiming to be the senator's son.

PLANE LANDS IN FIELD NOSE FIRST

Lt. Joe Bishop and Pilot Are Unhurt in Accident at Carthage Fourth Celebration.

THE SHIP IS BADLY DAMAGED

Forty Returned Soldiers Are Guests at Day's Festivities and Surprise Crowd With Drill.

Although the Fourth of July celebration and soldiers' home-coming at Carthage yesterday was marred slightly by an airplane accident, in which no one was hurt, the observance of the nation's birth anniversary was counted an unqualified success. The crowd was estimated at two thousand people.

Lt. Joe Bishop, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kennedy of near Carthage, who gave a thrilling exhibition above Carthage in the morning, smashed up his ship in trying to make a landing during the afternoon on his return from Cognersville, where he gave an air exhibition in connection with the Fourth of July celebration at Roberts park.

When Lt. Bishop was near the earth, he started a short nose dive, and due to engine trouble, the ship could not be righted in time to make a good landing, and the ship drove into the ground nose first. It looked for an instant like the ship would turn over on its back. The accident happened in a wheat stubble field adjoining the ball ground.

The propeller was smashed and the wheels on which the ship lights were forced up through the wings. Lt. Bishop and his pilot returned to Indianapolis yesterday evening. Mechanics came today from the Speedway, where Lt. Bishop is stationed, and it was expected the ship would be taken back late this afternoon.

The celebration was one of many surprises for the people of Carthage and hundreds of visitors, the best of which was a squad drill by forty soldiers, in uniform, who were the special guests of the Carthage Commercial club and Ripley township auxiliary of the Rush county chapter of Red Cross.

The drill, which was directed by Lt. Forrest Parrish, who has been in the army for twenty-two years, took place at nine o'clock last night. It had been kept a secret from the crowd and when the soldiers came marching up the street with the band

GEORGE B. MOORE, JR., CLERK, RESIGNS TODAY

Quits County Office to Accept Position as Assistant Manager of Reynolds Co.

TERM EXPIRES DEC. 1, 1920

George B. Moore, Jr., clerk of Rush county, today handed his resignation to County Auditor McMillin, who in turn will submit it to the county commissioners. Mr. Moore's resignation is to be effective July 31.

Mr. Moore in handing in his resignation today, stated that he had received an offer as assistant manager of the Reynolds Manufacturing company, and considered the offer too good to turn down, as it has a future before it, and his present office is only a one-term office.

Mr. Moore was elected by the Republican party and has held the office since December 1, 1916, having until December 1, 1920 to serve.

It is probable the commissioners will appoint a successor at their meeting which will be held on Monday.

TAX NOTICE IS NOT A SUMMONS

Reviewers Say it is Not Necessary to Call if Property Owner is Satisfied.

NOTICES COMPLY WITH LAW

County Board Will be Extremely Busy up Until Last Day, Completing City Reassessment.

The county board of review which have been mailed to taxpayers notifying them that their appraisement had been changed, need not be regarded as a summons to appear before the board.

They are far from this, and the board is anxious that no more than necessary appear, because the reviewers have all they can do between now and Wednesday, the last day of the annual session, according to the new law, which allows thirty-eight days, counting Sundays, in the year when real estate is assessed.

The notices were sent out to comply with the law, which provides that taxpayers shall be notified whenever their assessments are changed. The notices do not give the new valuation on real estate and improvements, but the board believes that the majority of the taxpayers have seen the new figures which have been published daily in the Daily Republican. If they are satisfied, taxpayers need not appear before the board at all.

The reviewers will likely not be in their office any time the first three days of next week, except in the afternoon, because it will take all of their time in the mornings to complete the reassessment of Rushville real estate and improvements. For that reason, those who wish to appear before the board should call in the afternoon.

The reviewers all day yesterday in an effort to make every lick count and finish all that they have to do between now and next Wednesday.

West of Jackson, south of First street and east of the Big Four valuations were fixed as follows:

Edward A. Lee, $750; William R. and Tina Gregg, (2 properties), $2,500; Mrs. John H. Brown, $1,100; John B. Morris, trustee, $1,000; Raymond C. Hargrove, $1,200; Frank Brown, $1,100; Ed M. Kelly, (2 properties), $1,100; John Kelly, $2,000; John and Ella Singer, $1,500; Christopher Fox, $1,500; Ben-

FORECASTS KEYNOTE OF SPEECHES HERE

Wilson Says in Fourth Address We Must Continue to Keep America at Mankind's Service

INTERNATIONALISM IS SEEN

(By United Press.) Aboard the U. S. S. George Washington, July 5.—"We must continue to spur America at the service of mankind," President Wilson declared yesterday in a speech delivered from the deck of the George Washington.

The president's speech constituted a reply to the element advocating that America return to the policy of internationalism and was regarded as a forecast of the keynote of the speeches he will deliver in his campaign in the country in support of the league of nations.

It is said the president is prepared to extend his speaking campaign over any period that is deemed necessary to enable him to carry out his assurance he gave the peace conference of America's willingness to share in the peace terms, which he believes will be inaugurated.

Skipton is with the 549th Engineers and has been in France for 7 months, having left this country the day following the signing of the armistice.

FIRST 1919 WHEAT IS DELIVERED HERE TODAY

Threshing Starts on Harry Jones Farm Just South of Rushville —Grain Grades Well

WILL BE GENERAL NEXT WEEK

The first 1919 wheat was delivered at Rushville today when threshing began this morning Harry Jones' farm just south of the city. The grain was of good quality, grading No. 2, and weighed 582 pounds to the bushel. It was impossible this afternoon to determine the exact yield per acre, but it was expected that the crop of about thirty acres on the farm would average well.

Mr. Jones stated that the wheat would probably have broken into class one but for the fact that it was the first threshed in the machine which was last used for oats last season. This tended to cut down its weight and shave it down a notch.

Threshing continued today on the Frank Offatt farm in Posey township, where the first wheat in the county was threshed Thursday. It is believed that threshing will become general all over the county early next week.

RICKARD CRITICIZES RAIL ADMINISTRATION

Promoter of Heavyweight Bout Says Failure to Supply Coaches Kept Many Away

WILLARD IS RESTING TODAY

(By United Press.) Toledo, Ohio, July 5.—Tex Rickard today said that William Roat, sport editor of a Philadelphia newspaper will be asked to explain before the army, navy and civilian board of control just what was meant in the story published under his name today, charging an irregular agreement had been made between Rickard and Willard for yesterday's championship bout.

Toledo, Ohio, July 5.—Tex Rickard promoter of the Willard-Dempsey heavyweight championship battle, was bitter today in his criticism of the United States railroad administration, which he said kept many from reaching the arena, which he had built in Bay View park.

He said he had received many reports from towns near Toledo stating that many hundreds of people were kept from attending the battle on account of the administration failing to provide enough coaches to haul the people to Toledo.

Jesse Willard, from whom the heavyweight championship title was taken in one of the most one-sided bouts ever held, rested today. There were rumors that Jess had suffered a broken jaw but he sent word that this was a mistake. Dempsey won the championship in the third round after giving Willard a terrible beating which it seemed impossible for any human being to withstand.

Navy Department Sends Fast Steering Yacht and Two Destroyers to Help the R-34

CALL FOR HELP IS RECEIVED

Second Message Asks if Destroyers Could Come to Funday to Take Dirigible in Tow

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 5.—Encountering head winds off Nova Scotia, the dirigible R-34 wired the navy department for help, this afternoon.

The navy immediately responded by sending the Satilla, a fast steering yacht, and two destroyers to go to the assistance of the airship, R-34.

The first cry of distress stated that the dirigible had encountered head winds over Nova Scotia. Five minutes later another message was received, addressed to the navy department, and signed by Lt. Commander Lansdowne, an American of the dirigible. This message asked whether destroyers could proceed to the southeast of Funday to take the R-34 in tow. Another message from the R-34 received at the navy department shortly after 2 p. m. showed her about 220 miles northeast of Cross Island, Maine, and asked if destroyers were on the way.

Mingoa, Long Is., July 5.—Lt. Col. Lucas, commandant at Roosevelt Field, announced shortly after 1 p. m. today that he had received a message from Major Scott commanding the R-34, stating that the dirigible R-34 would arrive here tomorrow morning.

Major Scott called attention to the

What Is Rheumatism? Why Suffer from It?

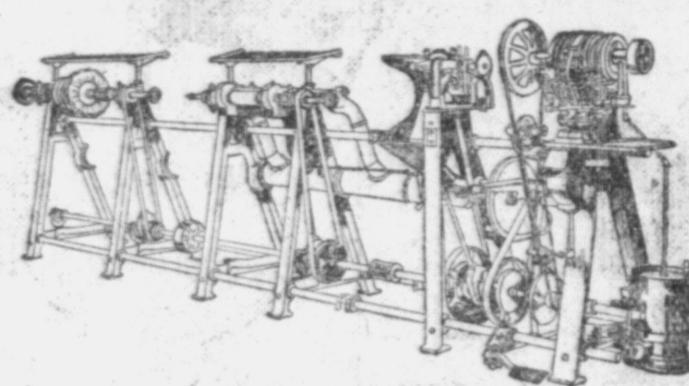

Sufferers Should Realize That It Is a Blood Infection.

Doubtless like other sufferers, you have often asked yourself this question, which continues to remain unanswered.

Science has proven that Rheumatism is caused by a germ in your blood, and the only way to reach it is by a remedy which eliminates and removes these little pain demons. This explains why lin-ments and lotions can do no permanent good, for they cannot possibly reach these germs, which infect your blood by the millions.

S. S. S. has been successfully used for Rheumatism for more than fifty years. Try it to-day, and you will find yourself at last on the right track to get rid of your Rheumatism. For treatment of your individual case, address Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Specific Co., Dept. 43, Atlanta, Ga.

Methodist Centenary at Columbus, O. Enjoys Larger Crowd on Fourth Than Prize Fight.

SHOWS CHURCH VITALIZED

Columbus, O., July 5—Calling attention to the fact that the Methodist Centenary, in progress here, drew a larger crowd than the big melee at Toledo yesterday, Dr. Fred B. Fisher, associate director general, today issued the following statement:

"It is a very significant thing that on July 4, 1919, the two big events staged in the United States of America, the Centenary Celebration at Columbus and the prize fight at Toledo, the Centenary Celebration had an attendance almost twice as large as the prize fight, showing the preference of the American people for the constructive rather than the destructive in American life, and while thousands of seats at the prize fight were unoccupied there were fifteen-hundred in line at 7 o'clock in the morning to buy pageant tickets at the Celebration. Careful estimators of crowds based their estimates on this deduction that every human being required two square feet of space for comfort. That permits 21,000 to stand comfortably on an acre of ground and six acres of the 110 were packed full so that the crowd at the exposition on Friday, July 4th, counting the fluctuation easily equaled 12,000."

Alonzo Wilson, in charge of special events, said: "The Christian people of Ohio were challenged to make good in protest and to show their colors at Columbus as against a crowd that preferred a prize fight at Toledo.

The churches have made good and the crowd at the Exposition was greatly in excess of the crowd at the prize fight. This is very gratifying and is another strong showing that the church has been vitalized and is capable of handling big proposition. It is a new day for the church and shows that she is ready to cope with any situation in the future which concerns moral standards."

FIRE CAUSES $20,000 LOSS AT FALMOUTH

Wright, who battled with the flames on the roof.

The home of Jacob Gross, west of the I. O. O. F. building, across the street, was also on fire and the men had a hard time keeping the flames from bursting out. Had the fire reached this house, there would have been little doubt, but that the fire would have spread very rapidly.

While fighting flames at the Gross residence, Robert Longfellow was painfully injured about the face when a bucket fell and struck him. Several suffocations resulted from the intense heat.

An appeal was made early this morning to Mayor Irvin, wanting Rushville to send help, and the fire department here was ready to go with the chemical truck, but the fire was under control, and was not sent. However, the Connersville fire chief and firemen made the trip in machines, and with chemicals saved the postoffice from burning. It is located across the street, south of the I. O. O. F. hall.

The loss to the town was severe, and while Mr. Collyer suffered, the most, he was busy today gathering his stock together, and will soon be ready for business in another store room, farther down the street. The fire caused people all over the town to remove their household goods, and this morning the place resembled an auction sale.

playing, it proved a most inspiring spectacle, the climax of which was the salute to the flag, mounted on the flag pole in the center of Main street, with a spotlight playing on it, as the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." Lieut. Parrish gave the salute.

The hour's fireworks display last night was also a surprise for the crowd because the crowd did not announce anything of this nature on the program.

Forty returned soldiers of Ripley township were entertained at noon at the Carthage hotel with a dinner, at which several soldiers and representatives of the Commercial Club and Red Cross spoke briefly. One enjoyable feature of the occasion was the return of Clarence Sample, who is believed to be the only Rush county soldier to have reached Berlin, in time for the celebration. He was in the city for eight hours, while serving as a chauffeur, but did not get more than a block away from the hotel. He said there was rioting while he was there.

Two baseball games and free motion picture shows were a part of the day's entertainment. A country team was defeated by a town team in the morning by the score of 13 to 7. In the afternoon, Fountaintown won from the regular Carthage team, 14 to 7.

The Fatted Calf.

The policy of the allied representatives toward the end of the peace negotiations seems to have been in the direction of leniency toward Germany. It can hardly have been a manifestation of affection.

Clemenceau has not shown very much of this spirit. It was hardly natural that he should. The sight of northern France is a nightmare, and is an ever present suggestion of another era of desolation only to be postponed by the prolonged enfeeblement of Germany. A French premier who declared that Germany was being "too" severely punished would not be a premier long.

But President Wilson and Lloyd George seem to have been singularly in accord in their willingness to reduce Germany's debt. And it can hardly be the outcome of a compassionate feeling toward the unrepentant culprit.

Germany we are told, was to be admitted to the league of nations. At first this privilege was to be denied her, but later on it was to be conceded. Not after a number of years, but within a few months. Why? Because she intimated that otherwise she would be driven to form a league of her own.

Here is the sublime peak of absurdity. What kind of a league contains both the condemned criminal and the jailers, the convict and the presiding judge?

The establishment of a league of nations is too exalted an ideal to be encumbered with a group of absurd associates. Fantastic many of its features must appear, but the whimsical elements must be reduced to a minimum. It would be a calamity to let it exhibit the traditional characteristics of a farce.

RUSSIA'S PROBLEM IS HER INDUSTRIES

Bolsheviks Fell Heir to Defunct Industrial Organization Left Over From Old Regime

EXPERTS PLAN NEW INDUSTRY

They Realize That They Cannot Live Without Making Concessions Both Outside and Inside.

By FRANK J. TAYLOR
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

New York, July 5.—Starting the industrial wheels going and keeping them moving is the greatest problem confronting the Bolsheviks at present. The task is made doubly difficult by the fact that the Bolsheviks fell heir to a defunct industrial organization left over from the old regime. Factories erected by the Russian capitalists were on the verge of collapse and were built for exploitation mainly. The railroads were in poor condition and were short of rolling stock.

Add to this the lack of management and the abolition of individual initiative which followed the overthrow of the capitalistic system, and one realizes some of the difficulties the Bolsheviks face.

Industrial commissions have been formed to plan reconstruction of factories, but so far plans have not advanced much beyond the discussion stage. The Bolsheviks claim they cannot accomplish anything while they are at war with the world and cannot get supplies and machinery they need, and their men at the front.

As the result of experiments conducted so far, the Bolsheviks are coming to realize that individual initiative is hard to substitute and that all men are not of the same value. A commission of so called experts is planning new industries for the government.

In addition the Bolsheviks have decided they must make concessions to capitalistic enterprise to encourage new development. Consequently they are offering concessions to capitalists who will build certain railroads and factories.

The concessions as yet are not acceptable, since capital must comply with the Russian Code of Labor, limiting hours of labor and giving the workmen the right to set their own wages.

Industries operated by the state have been running under this system but at a loss which the state makes up by printing money. Capitalists hesitate to accept concessions under these conditions, though handsome offers are made of alternate strips of timber land on both sides of a railroad to be built across northern Russia.

According to the Bolsheviks, they were forced to seize the Russian industries after the revolution. In an interview with Grigori Melnitsenzy, Moscow labor chief, who formerly was known in New York as George N. Melcher, labor leader and agitator, the following explanation of the early revolutionary situation was given the United Press.

"When the war with Germany ended the Russian capitalists just closed their shops," said Melnitsenzy. "They had made enough money and were ready to retire. The workmen were out of work and out of luck.

"We demanded work, and insisted that they pay us while they waited to reopen the factories. The capitalists replied that they had no intention of opening the shops again. We could starve.

"If it had been in America, it never would have happened that way. American capitalists would have been ready to start peace time production the day after the war ended. But not the Russian capitalist.

"The workmen in Moscow held meetings and finally decided they would have to seize the factories and operate them. That was before the Bolsheviks overthrew Kerensky in Petrograd. So you see we industrial unionists were the first to declare Bolshevik tactics.

"Of course when we decided to seize the factories, the fighting started. It was confined at first to a few factories inside Moscow and a district we seized. But old government guards started it, and were getting the best of us. Then we called a general fight of the unions against the government, and when the workmen from the suburb factories attacked the troops from the rear, we won out.

"But, you see, we had Bolshevikism forced upon us by the capitalists. You can't realize the situation, because it never would have happened so in America. Now all we want is a chance to work our system out without interference from the outside."

Probably the body upon which the future of Soviet Russia hangs more than on anything else is the Extraordinary Economic Soviet, headed by Alex. Ivan Rikoff, a radical Russian journalist, who has gathered about him the Bolshevik economic staff.

This body is trying to replace the initiative taken by capitalism in the old days with an inspired initiative. It has conducted a completed investigation of conditions and has gathered much data.

Rikoff's commission has drawn up plans for some new industries. It has also definitely opened negotiations with foreign capitalists to build up industries in Russia. According to Rikoff, Russia wants benevolent capitalists.

"We will permit individual concerns so long as they operate on a socialistic basis," he said. "We need materials and skilled managers from the outside. We would rather get them from America than from any other country, because there will be no political strings attached to deals with Americans."

"Capitalists would have to make the same labor conditions we do, of course. Our industrial unions set the wages the factories must pay, with the endorsement of this commission.

"We realize we cannot live without making concessions, both outside and inside Russia. Many of our unions have already adopted the piece system for wages, contrary to communistic theories. Wages range from 650 to 2200 rubles per month for laborers, with bonuses for managers. Later maybe we can make everyone equal, but now we must make concessions."

FOUR INJURED WHEN RACING AUTOS CRASH

Machines Collide on Twenty-Second Lap of Twenty-Five Mile Event at Covington, Ind.

INJURIES OF 2 MAY BE FATAL

Covington, Ind., July 5.—Four men are injured badly, two being so severely hurt that their recovery is regarded as doubtful, as a result of a collision on the Covington race track in an automobile race yesterday afternoon. They are:

Glen Fisher, age twenty-five, St. Joseph, Ill., skull fractured and serious internal injuries; may die.

Owen Swearinden, age twenty, St. Joseph, Ill., skull fractured and internal injuries; may die.

John Roberts, Paris, Ill., injured severely about the head and body.

George McIntire, Marshall, Ind., shoulder and one rib broken, also injured severely about the head and body.

All of the injured men were rushed to hospital at Danville, Ill., as soon as possible after the crash. The race was stopped by the accident, but was resumed later. Roberts was the driver of one of the cars and McIntire was his mechanician.

Between 3,000 and 4,000 persons witnessed the collision. The race was twenty-five miles long, and was run over a dirt course, which is one-half mile long.

On the second lap the machine carrying Roberts and McIntire crashed into the car driven by Fisher with Swearinden as mechanician, when it attempted a difficult turn. Both machines were demolished.

JEFFRIES BECOMES A FULL-PLEDGED FARMER

Lives Out at Burbank Where he Gets Money and Amusement From His Ranch

SPECIALTIES ARE COWS

(By United Press.)

Los Angeles, Cal., July 5.—"J. J. Jeffries at Burbank reports some nice records being made on two cows but owing to not having any sugar beets to feed, Mr. Jeffries says that these cows are not doing their best."

That's what a western farm journal recently said. It refers to Jim Jeffries, one heavyweight champion of the world.

Jeff has been transferred, at least in part, from the sport to the farm page. He lives out at Burbank, some fifteen miles from Los Angeles, where he gets money and amusement from his big ranch. Jeff is a full-fledged farmer, the farm having been practically his only business interest since local option closed his big cattle.

Cows, pigs and alfalfa are his specialties.

Early morning sees Jeff trudging out to the fields. A recent telephone call at 8 a. m. brought the answer that "Mr. Jeffries went down to the lower field an hour ago to fix a tractor and he won't be back until noon." He works regular farm-hand hours.

But, although Jeff has transferred his affections from the prize ring to the farm, he still is a familiar figure when there is something doing in the world of sports. He is an ardent baseball fan and it is not unusual to see Jeff and Frank Chance occupying adjoining seats at the ball park in the afternoon and in the evening sitting together at the four round boxing show.

WAR VETERANS HAVE ORGANIZED

Two National Organizations Have Been Formed and a Question Arises Here

WHICH ONE TO SELECT

Returned Sailors and Soldiers Can Affiliate With Either—Springer Heads One

Sooner or later, veterans of the world war in Rush county who fought with the marines, on the sea or as soldiers, will organize and affiliate with a national organization of veterans, but just which of the two organizations already in the field they will select, is still an open question.

There are already two associations of war veterans in the field—the American Legion and the World War Veterans. The American Legion originated in two meetings of soldier, sailor and marine delegates at Paris and St. Louis on March 15 and May 8, 9 and 10 respectively. The executive committees appointed at these meetings have combined to form the national executive committee of the American Legion at 19 West Forty-Fourth street, New York City. State branches and local posts are being organized throughout the country, Judge Raymond Springer of Connersville being president of the Indiana branch. The organization work is progressing rapidly and it is expected that at least one million ex-service men will be enrolled as members prior to the national convention which will meet at Minneapolis on November 10, 11 and 12 to effect a permanent organization of the Legion.

The World War Veterans organization had its beginning November 20, 1918, nine days after the armistice was signed, when fifty-two men in the United States army, representing all branches of the service, met at Blois, Loire-et-Cher, France, and agreed to organize an association composed of men of the army, navy and marines and in certain cases men of recognized war work organizations.

Today there are more than 2400 posts of the World War Veterans working as one great national body through the National Council World War Veterans of which Private Hugh B. Donnelly is commander-in-chief. More than 100,000 have joined the World War Veterans and more are joining daily.

In case there should be the desire on the part of Rush county veterans to form a post here, the following on how to organize one, is reproduced from the World War Veteran, the monthly publication of the national council of the association:

Any committee of three returned soldiers, sailors or marines of the United States Forces, in any city in the United States, may apply for a provisional charter authorizing them to organize a post of the World War Veterans, under the National Council. This charter is good for a period of thirty-six days during which time a muster roll must be filled out, with the names of twelve or more returned soldiers, sailors or marines, certified to by a departmental inspector, and returned to the Adjutant General, National Council, World War Veterans, Aurora, Ill. However, before this muster roll can be forwarded to the Adjutant General, a meeting must be held, names selected for the post as provided for in the muster roll and officers elected.

The National Council, upon receipt of this muster roll, will assign a name and number to the post, will furnish each member listed thereon with the official insignia of the order in enamel and bronze and will furnish the adjutant of the post with identification cards for all members, showing that they are in good standing for one year following the issue of the card.

The general laws of the National Council, World War Veterans provide that no charters can be issued between meetings of the National Council, so a permanent charter cannot be issued until the meeting following the receipt of muster roll. However, you will be supplied with all other credentials, so that you can operate as a post of the World War Veterans with all powers given to posts of the association.

The National Council dues, payable to the Adjutant General, National Council, World War Veterans are fifty cents per year, and must be paid to the National Council in order that the member be in good standing. The sum of fifty cents per member must also be sent in with the first muster roll, otherwise no charter can be issued. These national dues cover the cost of maintaining the National Council, giving the necessary inspection, and supplying the members with the official badge and identification card. It is expected that these dues will also pay the entire expense of conducting the annual encampment.

Local dues are entirely controlled by the members of the posts themselves. The members can vote to pay as large or as small dues as they wish, depending on how far they intend to carry their activities. It is suggested that the local dues be paid quarterly, and that in no event should they be over ten dollars per year. Less than half of that sum is suggested.

The officers of a post shall consist of a Commander, a Vice-Commander, a Junior Vice-Commander, a Chaplain, an Adjutant and a Quartermaster who shall each be elected annually. The Commander shall also appoint an officer of the guard to serve during his term of office and may at his discretion appoint a post guard in accordance with the ritual.

At the first meeting of the National Council a motion was adopted that each post Commander shall appoint a committee to be known as the Employment Committee, whose duty it shall be to co-operate with the civic and industrial bodies to secure proper employment for returned veterans who are members of the World War Veterans as heretofore stated. This committee shall be guided in this work by the Employment Committee of the National Council.

August 12 is the date set for the annual free outing given by the Salvation Army for a large number of children in this city. Just how many will go, Capt. Free ice cream, lemonade and lunch will be provided. Prizes will be awarded in the athletic events which are being arranged. No money will be solicited to pay the expenses of the outing as they will be paid from the Home Service fund recently raised by the Elks Lodge.

INCREASE PRICE OF FUEL 25 CENTS A TON

Dealers in Laporte Say That it is Due to Increased Wholesale Prices

MINES ARE FORCED TO CLOSE

(By United Press.)

Laporte, July 5.—Heralding an advance in the price of coal generally throughout the state local, coal dealers have agreed to increase the price of the fuel here twenty-five cents a ton. This, they say is due to the increased wholesale prices and increasing freight rates.

Further reasons for this action are based on the higher wages of mining labor. Another fact which the dealer says always boost prices is the fact that the U. S. is confronted with a coal shortage for the coming winter.

Retail dealers assert they are having some difficulty obtaining coal in large quantities. Several Kentucky mines have been forced to close because of labor shortage and Cincinnati through which West Virginia products pass is short of cars.

FIRE CAUSES A $20,000 LOSS

Town of Falmouth Threatened With Destruction When I. O. O. F. Hall and General Store Burn

TWO RESIDENCES DESTROYED

Homes of S. D. Davison and Quincy Rees Burn to Ground But Household Goods Are Saved

IS DISCOVERED EARLY TODAY

Probably Caused by Smokers attending Dance in Odd Fellows Hall Last Night and sister threatened to destroy here today

the town of Falmouth, gained —Early this morning, starting in the Odd Fellow's hall, spreading to and destroying the general store owned by Alfred Collyer and destroying the residences of S. D. Davison and Quincy Rees. The estimated loss was placed at from $17,000 to $20,000.

The exact cause of the fire is not known, but it is presumed that it was started by smokers attending the dance, which was given on the first floor of the Odd Fellows building last night. The dance closed about midnight.

The fire was noticed by Mr. Davison, whose house was north of the store and hall, and he gave the alarm. By the time neighbors had gathered, the fire was gaining ground very fast, and the place underneath of the stairway and stage of the hall was a mass of flames. It was discovered about 12:45 and efforts to save the I. O. O. F. building were abandoned, and bucket brigades turned to saving nearby houses and stores.

The I. O. O. F. hall is located in the center of the town in the northeast jog of the county line road, and was in Fayette county. The general store owned by Mr. Collyer was about 20 feet north of the hall, and the flames soon reached this building. The stock of merchandise was very heavy and Mr. Collyer estimated this morning that he had $10,000 worth of stock. His loss was the greatest of any, and while much of the stock was carried out before the fire reached it, nevertheless people forgot about his stock room in the rear of the building, and everything there, including automobile oils, threshers' supplies, linseed oil and hardware, was a total loss.

The Collyer building was a two story structure, 36 by 50, and the upper part was also used as a store room. The insurance carried by Mr. Collyer was very slight, considering his loss, and he estimated his loss over and above the insurance, to be between $6,000 and $7,000. The insurance which he carried amounted to $4,100, $3,000 of which was on the stock, $1,000 on the building and $100 on the fixtures.

The residence of Quincy Rees was just north of the Collyer store, and soon burned to the ground. The household goods were saved. Mr. Rees is a farm laborer, and the loss was very heavy for him. He carried $600 insurance.

The home of S. D. Davison, just around the corner to the east of the I. O. O. F. hall, was also destroyed, but the household goods were saved. Mr. Davison's insurance amounted to $900.

When the fire was at its worse, citizens thought that the entire town would be consumed, and it was by heroic work of the bucket brigade that other places were not destroyed. The Red Men's hall, which was only a few feet from the residence of Rees, was on fire several times, and much credit is due them.

SHOWERS PROMISED TO BREAK HEAT WAVE

Thunder Storms are Predicted For Tonight, Followed by Cooler Weather on Sunday

HIGH TEMPERATURE FOR YEAR

Local thundershows are promised by the weatherman for tonight and tomorrow to break the heat wave which has held this section of the country in its grip for several days.

Following record-breaking temperatures for this year, on the Fourth of July, the hot spell showed no inclination of breaking today, with thermometers showing temperatures ranging all the way from ninety-two to ninety-five degrees. Clouds appeared in the sky today and some hope was held out for a thundershower as promised.

Picnickers sweltered in the hot test weather of the summer yesterday, but it did not deter scores from taking long automobile drives to attend Fourth celebrations and to enjoy a day in the woods. Farmers are especially anxious for rain even though they are in the midst of hay harvest, because the corn and grass crops are sadly in need of moisture.

MURDERER SAYS HE'S SON OF SENATOR NEW

Man Giving His Name as Harry S. New Admits Killing Frieda Lesser Near Burbank, Calif.

WHY HE COMMITTED CRIME

(By United Press.) Los Angeles, Calif., July 5.—Harry S. New, who says he is the son of United States Senator Harry S. New of Indiana, by a divorced wife, sat in the cell at the city jail today, telling how he had murdered Miss Frieda Lesser, whom he was to have married tonight.

He stated that when Miss Lesser said as they were walking along the dark Topanga Canyon road near Burbank last night, that she would go to the operating table instead of the altar in order that she would not become the mother of his child, he shot her. Then he went on to give all the possible aid in clearing the case for the police.

New declared that Miss Lesser had never told him much of her parents but said her father's name was Emil Lesser, who was supposed to have committed suicide two years ago in Venice, California, while being sought for violation of the espionage act.

The department of justice agents said that they are still searching for a man named Emil Lesser, who was reported to have killed himself two years ago.

Senator Will Not Talk.

Washington, July 5.—"I cannot discuss the matter," Senator Harry S. New of Indiana, declared today when asked what he knew of the man arrested in Los Angeles for murder, giving the name of Harry S. New and claiming to be the son of Senator

PLANE LANDS IN FIELD NOSE FIRST

Lieut. Joe Bishop and Pilot Are Unhurt in Accident at Carthage Fourth Celebration.

THE SHIP IS BADLY DAMAGED

Forty Returned Soldiers Are Guests at Day's Festivities and Surprise Crowd With Drill.

Although the Fourth of July celebration and soldiers' home-coming at Carthage yesterday was marred slightly by an airplane accident, in which no one was hurt, the observance of the nation's birth anniversary was counted an unqualified success. The crowd was estimated at two thousand people.

Lieut. Joe Bishop, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kennedy of near Carthage, who gave a thrilling exhibition above Carthage in the morning, smashed up his ship in trying to make a landing during the afternoon on his return from Copeville, where he gave an air exhibition in connection with the Fourth of July celebration at Roberts' park.

When Lieut. Bishop was near the earth, he started a short nose dive, and due to engine trouble, the ship could not be righted in time to make a good landing, and the ship drove into the ground nose first. It looked for an instant like the ship would turn over on its back. The accident happened in a wheat stubble field adjoining the ball ground.

The propeller was smashed and the wheels on which the ship lights were forced up through the wings. Lieut. Bishop and his pilot returned to Indianapolis yesterday evening. Mechanics came today from the Speedway, where Lieut. Bishop is stationed, and it was expected the ship would be taken back late this afternoon.

The celebration was one of many surprises for the people of Carthage and hundreds of visitors, the best of which was a squad drill by forty soldiers in uniform, who were the special guests of the Carthage Commercial club and Ripley township auxiliary of the Rush county chapter of Red Cross.

The drill, which was directed by Lieut. Forrest Parrish, who has been in the army for twenty-two years, took place at nine o'clock last night. It had been kept a secret from the crowd and when the soldiers came marching up the street with the band

GEORGE B. MOORE, JR., CLERK, RESIGNS TODAY

Quits County Office to Accept Position as Assistant Manager of Reynolds Co.

TERM EXPIRES DEC. 1, 1920

George B. Moore, Jr., clerk of Rush county, today handed his resignation to County Auditor McMillin, who in turn will submit it to the county commissioners. Mr. Moore's resignation is to be effective July 31.

Mr. Moore in handing in his resignation today, stated that he had received an offer as assistant manager of the Reynolds Manufacturing company, and considered the offer too good to turn down, as it has a future before it, and his present office is only a one-term office.

Mr. Moore was elected by the Republican party and has held the office since December 1, 1915, having until December 1, 1920, to serve.

It is probable the commissioners will name a successor at their meeting which will be held on Monday evening. It is to be expected that the new clerk will be a man of experience, as the commissioners are to be in a position to give him a good start.

TAX NOTICE IS NOT A SUMMONS

Reviewers Say it is Not Necessary to Call if Property Owner is Satisfied.

NOTICES COMPLY WITH LAW

County Board Will be Extremely Busy up Until Last Day, Completing City Reassessment.

The county board of review which have been mailed to taxpayers notifying them that their appraisement had been changed need not be regarded as a summons to appear before the board.

They are far from this, and the board is anxious that no more than necessary appear because the reviewers have all they can do between now and Wednesday, the last day of the annual session, according to the new law, which allows thirty-eight days, counting Sundays, in the year when real estate is assessed.

The notices were sent out to comply with the law, which provides that taxpayers shall be notified whenever their assessments are changed. The notices do not give the new valuation, on real estate and improvements, but the board believes that the majority of the taxpayers have seen the new figures which have been published daily in the Daily Republican. If they are satisfied, taxpayers need not appear before the board at all.

The reviewers will likely not be in their office any time the first three days of next week, except in the afternoon, because it will take all of their time in the mornings to complete the reassessment of Rushville real estate and improvements. For that reason, those who wish to appear before the board should call in the afternoon.

The reviewers all day yesterday in an effort to make every tick count, and finish all that they have to do between now and next Wednesday.

West of Jackson, south of First street and east of the Big Four valuations were fixed as follows:

Edward A. Lee, $750; William R. and Tina Gregg, (2 properties), $2,500; Mrs. John H. Brown, $1,100; John B. Morris, trustee, $1,000; Raymond C. Hargrove, $1,200; Frank Brown, $1,100; Ed M. Kelly, (2 properties), $3,100; John Kelly, $2,000; John and Ella Singer, $1,500; Christopher Fox, $1,500; Ben

FORECASTS KEYNOTE OF SPEECHES HERE

Wilson Says in Fourth Address We Must Continue to Keep America at Mankind's Service

INTERNATIONALISM IS SEEN

(By United Press.) Aboard the U. S. S. George Washington, July 5.—"We must continue to put America at the service of mankind," President Wilson declared yesterday in a speech delivered from the deck of the George Washington.

The president's speech constituted a reply to the element advocating that America return to the policy of internationalism and was regarded as a forecast of the keynote of the speeches he will deliver in his campaign in the country in support of the league of nations.

It is said the president is prepared to extend his speaking campaign over any period that is deemed necessary to enable him to carry out his assurance that "we have the peace conference on American soil." The conference will be held on Monday evening, and it is to be expected that the new clerk will be a man of experience, as the commissioners are to be in a position to give him a good start.

Skipton is with the 549th Engineers and has been in France for 7 months, having left this country the day following the signing of the armistice.

FIRST 1919 WHEAT IS DELIVERED HERE TODAY

Threshing Starts on Harry Jones Farm Just South of Rushville —Grain Grades Well

WILL BE GENERAL NEXT WEEK

The first 1919 wheat was delivered at Rushville today when threshing began this morning Harry Jones' farm just south of the city. The grain was of good quality, grading No. 2, and weighed 584 pounds to the bushel. It was impossible this afternoon to determine the exact yield per acre, but it was expected that the crop of about thirty acres on the farm would average well.

Mr. Jones stated that the wheat would probably have broken into class one but for the fact that it was the first threshed in the machine which was last used for oats last season. This tended to cut down its weight and shave it down a notch.

Threshing continued today on the Frank Ottatt farm in Posey township, where the first wheat in the county was threshed Thursday. It is believed that threshing will become general all over the county early next week.

RICKARD CRITICIZES RAIL ADMINISTRATION

Promoter of Heavyweight Bout Says Failure to Supply Coaches Kept Many Away

WILLARD IS RESTING TODAY

(By United Press.) Toledo, Ohio, July 5.—Tex Rickard today said that William Rocat, sport editor of a Philadelphia newspaper, will be asked to explain before the army, navy and civilian board of control just what was meant in the story published under his name today, charging an irregular agreement had been made between Rickard and Willard for yesterday's championship bout.

Toledo, Ohio, July 5.—Tex Rickard, promoter of the Willard-Dempsey heavyweight championship battle, was bitter today in his criticism of the United States railroad administration, which he said kept many from reaching the arena, which he had built in Bay View park.

He said he had received many reports from towns near Toledo stating that many hundreds of people were kept from attending the battle on account of the administration failing to provide enough coaches to haul the people to Toledo.

The president's speech constituted a reply to the element advocating that America return to the policy of internationalism and was regarded as a forecast of the keynote of the speeches he will deliver in his campaign in the country in support of the league of nations.

It is said the president is prepared to extend his speaking campaign over any period that is deemed necessary to enable him to carry out his assurance that "we have the peace conference on American soil." AID DISPATCHED TO FLOUNDERING R-34

Navy Department Sends Fast Steaming Yacht and Two Destroyers to Help the R-34

CALL FOR HELP IS RECEIVED

Second Message Asks if Destroyers Could Come to Funday to Take Dirigible in Tow

(By United Press.) Washington, July 5.—Encountering head winds off Nova Scotia, the dirigible R-34 wired the navy department for help, this afternoon.

The navy immediately responded by sending the Satilla, a fast steaming yacht, and two destroyers to go to the assistance of the airship, R-34. The first cry of distress stated that the dirigible had encountered head winds over Nova Scotia. Five minutes later another message was received, addressed to the navy department, and signed by Lt. Commander Lansdowne, an American of the dirigible. This message asked whether destroyers could proceed to the southeast of Funday to take the R-34 in tow. Another message from the R-34 received at the navy department shortly after 2 p. m. showed her about 220 miles northeast of Cross Island, Maine, and asked if destroyers were on the way.

Mineola, Long Is., July 5.—Lt. Col. Lucas, commandant at Roosevelt Field, announced shortly after 1 p. m. today that he had received a message from Major Scott commanding the R-34, stating that the dirigible R-34 would arrive here tomorrow morning.

Lucas called attention to the fact that the R-34's message inquiring about the availability of a destroyer in case of assistance was signed by American commander, Lt. Commander Lansdowne, instead of Scott. He said he accepted this as indicating the R-34 was in no serious danger.

Camperdown, Nova Scotia, July 5.—The British dirigible R-34, which left Scotland at 2:40 a. m. Wednesday on her transatlantic flight, was believed to be off the New England coast early today. It was thought that she would reach Long Island sometime this afternoon.

The Fatted Calf.

The policy of the allied representatives toward the end of the peace negotiations seems to have been in the direction of leniency toward Germany. It can hardly have been a manifestation of affection.

Clemenceau has not shown very much of this spirit. It was hardly natural that he should. The sight of northern France is a nightmare, and is an ever present suggestion of another era of devastation only to be postponed by the prolonged enfeeblement of Germany. A French premier who declared that Germany was being too severely punished would not be a premier long.

But President Wilson and Lloyd George seem to have been singularly in accord in their willingness to reduce Germany's debt. And it can hardly be the outcome of a compassionate feeling toward the unrepentant culprit.

Germany we are told, was to be admitted to the league of nations. At first this privilege was to be denied her, but later on it was to be conceded. Not after a number of years, but within a few months. Why? Because she intimated that otherwise she would be driven to form a league of her own.

Here is the sublime peak of absurdity. What kind of a league contains both the condemned criminal and the jailers, the convict and the presiding judge?

The establishment of a league of nations is too exalted an ideal to be encumbered with a group of absurd associates. Fantastic many of its features must appear, but the whimsical elements must be reduced to a minimum. It would be a calamity.

Bryan's Predicting Again.

Speaking of prohibition, William Jennings Bryan gets himself advertised as speaking on the world-wide aspect of the subject and then proceeds to shift to the league of nations. Same old argument too: that if you favor war of course you will oppose the league, "which," says Mr. Bryan, "is intended to prevent wars." "Intended," is right! But he will not come out and say it will. Neither will the other supporting elements for the new international pact with which they would substitute Internationalism and War for Americanism and Peace. Mr. Bryan also adds that if the present Senate does not ratify the league, "a Senate that will, will be elected".

"The Home Town Girl"

Vivian Martin appears as a quaint but charming little Yankee girl in her new Paramount picture, "The Home Town Girl," which will be shown tonight at the Princess theatre.

Miss Martin's admirers will be glad to learn that in this picture she is at her best. In the role of a New England girl, she admirably conveys all the qualities of loyalty, faith and unselfishness. By the employment of these attributes, she saves her bovish lover from moral ruin and robs envy and selfishness from the minds of all with whom she comes in contact.

The story is written by Oscar Gravie and Edith Kennedy; directed by Robert Vignola; produced by the studio. The cast includes all stars, including such popular Paramount players as Edmund Lowe, James Cagney, and the famous

All was quiet in the library for some five minutes and then the youngster said, "Daddy, you'd hate to see me killed, wouldn't you?"

The father, somewhat astonished, said, "Of course. Why do you ask?"

The boy with eyes on the ceiling said, "Just suppose I'd go out right now and meet a robber and he'd point a pistol at me and say, 'Your money or your life?' What would happen?"

PEPSINCO

It is a useless waste of good fuel and needless extravagance to try to burn it in a poor stove. It is absolutely wrong to expect good food to supply energy, vitality, health and happiness, if your stomach won't absorb and assimilate it. If you cannot eat with enjoyment; if your food does you no good; if food distresses, rather than benefits, then you have indigestion or dyspepsia. The best remedy to use is PEPSINCO.

Ask your druggist—he sells and recommends Pepainco.

UNDERSTANDING

OF WORLD WORK

Gov. Cox of Ohio Entertained by Foreign Representatives at M. E. Centenary.

SPEAKS AT A CLUB HOUSE

Many Prominent Visitors in Columbus to See The Foreign Expositions.

Columbus, Ohio, July 5—"After seeing and hearing the representatives of foreign countries that have just spoken, it seems to me that the great significance of this Centenary lies in the fact that the lay mind of the Methodist church, which represents a considerable part of public opinion, will now have an understanding of the possibilities of world work." These were the words of Gov. James Cox of Ohio, as he left the Club House at the Methodist Centenary Exposition Grounds, after a brief meeting in which about 30 of the leading citizens of Columbus, including Governor Cox and Mayor Karp, were addressed and entertained by representatives of the various countries having exhibits at the exposition.

The governor and his party entered the grounds without the knowledge of the larger part of the great crowd in attendance. At the reception accorded the party in the club house, Col. E. W. Halford presided. The brief program included songs by the kindergarten from the Japanese building directed by Mrs. McCanley of Louisville, author of the "Lady of the Decoration" brief greetings from Mrs. Eide, Esquino, protege of Sheldon Jackson and interpreter of the explorer Steransson, and from Jennie Abuk Alexander an Esquino girl, and addresses by Chief White Cloud from the Mohawk Reservation at St. Regis, N. Y.; Dr. J. R. Chitambar, general secretary of the Epworth League in India, Epigmenio Velasco, pastor of the Methodist Church in Mexico City, and Hugh Cyn, principal of the Methodist College in Seoul, Korea.

Among the visitors was R. F. Wolfe, publisher of the Ohio State Journal and the Columbus Dispatch, who said, "This celebration is really a glorified camp-meeting. It celebrates the glorious achievement of the Methodism of the past brought up to date. It is worthy of the city, worthy of the church, and a compliment to Christianity.

CORN BORER ATTACKS
CORN CROP IN 2 STATES

Pest is a Rapidly Spreading Insect and Steps to Prevent Spread is Discussed

CONFERENCE TO BE HELD

(By United Press)
Albany, N. Y., July 5.—Steps to prevent spread of the cornborer will be discussed at a conference of state commissioners of agriculture and entomologists of the corn growing states to be held here in August. The pest so far has appeared in but two states, New York and Massachusetts. It is a rapidly spreading insect, and it is believed that it can destroy half the corn crop in a season if preventive measures are not promptly taken.

New York state has spent $100,000 in its effort to stamp out the disease since the discovery here this winter, but so far no effective means of combating it have been found.

Invitations to attend the conference have been sent to the commissioners of agriculture of Illinois, Connecticut, Indiana, Iowa, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Massachusetts has been fighting the insect for a year or so, but has been unable to check its spread, and a new colony has been found in New York state at Homewell June 21. (Associated Press)

General Secretary of the conference said that the pest has spread

Q The surplus mileage given by Mason Cord Tires reflects the wide experience and expert knowledge of the master tire builders in the MASON organization.

Q Every point that could possibly add to service and economy was considered in establishing the MASON standard. Each individual tire must come up to this standard.

Q In most cases the mileage given by Mason Tires far exceeds our liberal adjustment which is 10,000 miles for cords and 8,000 for fabrics. The only tire that went the entire distance of the last speedway races without a change.

Q We also handle a complete line of all standard makes of cords and fabrics.

Russia's Problem Is Her Industries

EXPERTS PLAN NEW INDUSTRY

They Realize That They Cannot Live Without Making Concessions Both Outside and Inside.

By FRANK J. TAYLOR

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, July 5.—Starting the industrial wheels going and keeping them moving is the greatest problem confronting the Bolsheviks at present. The task is made doubly difficult by the fact that the Bolsheviks fell heir to a defunct industrial organization never tried to rebuild. Factories erected by the Russian capitalists were on the verge of collapse and were built for exploitation only. The railroads were in poor condition and were short of rolling stock.

Add to this the lack of management and the abolition of individual initiative which followed the overthrow of the capitalistic system, and one realizes some of the difficulties the Bolsheviks face.

Industrial commissions have been formed to plan reconstruction of factories, but so far plans have not advanced much beyond the discussion stage. The Bolsheviks claim they cannot accomplish anything while they are at war with the world and cannot get supplies and machinery they need, and their men at the front.

As the result of experiments conducted so far, the Bolsheviks are coming to realize that individual initiative is hard to substitute and that all men are men of the same value. A commission of so-called experts is planning new industries for the government.

In addition the Bolsheviks have decided they must make concessions to capitalistic enterprise to encourage new development. Consequently they are offering concessions to capitalists who will build certain railroads and factories.

The concessions as yet are not acceptable, since capital must comply with the Russian Code of Labor, limiting hours of labor and giving the workmen the right to set their own wages.

Industries operated by the state have been running under this system but at a loss which the state makes up by printing money. Capitalists hesitate to accept concessions under these conditions, though handsome offers are made of alternate strips of timber land on both sides of a railroad to be built across northern Russia.

According to the Bolsheviks, they were forced to seize the Russian industries after the revolution. In an interview with Grigori Melnitsenzy, Moscow labor chief, who formerly was known in New York as George N. Melcher, labor leader and agitator, the following explanation of the early revolutionary situation was given the United Press.

"When the war with Germany ended the Russian capitalists just closed their shops," said Melnitsenzy. "They had made enough money and were ready to retire. The workmen were out of work and out of luck."

"We demanded work, and insisted that they pay us while they waited to reopen the factories. The capitalists replied that they had no intention of opening the shops again. We could starve."

"If it had been in America, it never would have happened that way. American capitalists would have been ready to start peace time production the day after the war ended. But not the Russian capitalist."

"The workmen in Moscow held meetings and finally decided they would have to seize the factories and operate them. That was before the Bolsheviks overthrew Kerensky in Petrograd. So you see we industrial unionists were the first to declare Bolshevik tactics."

"Of course when we decided to seize the factories, the fighting started. It was confined at first to a few factories inside Moscow and a district we seized. But old government guards started it, and were getting the best of us. Then we called a general fight of the unions against the government, and when the workmen from the suburb factories attacked the troops from the rear, we won out."

"But, you see, we had Bolshevikism forced upon us by the capitalists. You can't realize the situation, because it never would have happened so in America. Now all we want is a chance to work our system out without interference from the outside."

Probably the body upon which the future of soviet Russia hangs more than on anything else is the Extraordinary Economic Soviet, headed by Alex. Ivan Rikoff, a radical Russian journalist, who has gathered about him the Bolshevik economic staff.

This body is trying to replace the initiative taken by capitalism in the old days with an inspired initiative. It has conducted a completed investigation of conditions and has gathered much data.

Rikoff's commission has drawn up plans for some new industries. It has also definitely opened negotiations with foreign capitalists to build up industries in Russia. According to Rikoff, Russia wants benevolent capitalists.

"We will permit individual companies so long as they operate on a socialistic basis," he said. "We need materials and skilled managers from the outside. We would rather get them from America than from any other country, because there will be no political strings attached to deals with Americans."

"Capitalists would have to make the same labor conditions we do, or else. Our industrial unions set the wages, the factories must pay them. The government of the communist unions have already adopted the piece system for wages, contrary to communistic theories. Wages range from 650 to 2200 rubles per month for laborers, with bonuses for managers. Later maybe we can make everyone equal, but now we must make concessions."

WAR VETERANS HAVE ORGANIZED

Two National Organizations Have Been Formed and a Question
Arises Here

WHICH ONE TO SELECT

Returned Sailors and Soldiers Can Affiliate With Either—Springer
er Heads One

Sooner or later, veterans of the world war in Rush county who fought with the marines, on the sea or as soldiers, will organize and affiliate with a national organization of veterans, but just which of the two organizations already in the field they will select, is still an open question.

There are already two associations of war veterans in the field—the American Legion and the World War Veterans. The American Legion originated in two meetings of soldier, sailor and marine delegates at Paris and St. Louis on March 15 and May 8, 9 and 10 respectively. The executive committees appointed at these meetings have combined to form the national executive committee of the American Legion at 19 West Forty-Fourth street, New York City. State branches and local posts are being organized throughout the country, Judge Raymond Springer of Cooersville being president of the Indiana branch. The organization work is progressing rapidly and it is expected that at least one million ex-service men will be enrolled as members prior to the national convention which will meet at Minneapolis on November 10, 11 and 12 to effect a permanent organization of the Legion.

The World War Veterans organization had its beginning November 20, 1918, nine days after the armistice was signed, when fifty-two men in the United States army, representing all branches of the service, met at Blois, Loire-et-Cher, France, and agreed to organize an association composed of men of the army, navy and marines and in certain cases men of recognized war work organizations.

Today there are more than 2400 posts of the World War Veterans working as one great national body through the National Council World War Veterans of which Private Hugh B. Dennelly is commander-in-chief. More than 100,000 have joined the World War Veterans and more are joining daily.

In case there should be the desire on the part of Rush county veterans to form a post here, the following on how to organize one, is reproduced from the World War Veteran, the monthly publication of the national council of the association:

Any committee of three returned soldiers, sailors or marines of the United States Forces, in any city in the United States, may apply for a provisional charter authorizing them to organize a post of the World War Veterans, under the National Council. This charter is good for a period of thirty-six days during which time a muster roll must be filled out, with the names of twelve or more returned soldiers, sailors or marines, certified to by a departmental inspector, and returned to the Adjutant General, National Council, World War Veterans, Aurora, Ill.

Little Young of Muncie and Aliza and Pearl Young of Anderson spent the Fourth with their brother, Warren Young in Summer.

The Rev. Luther Folger of Princeton, Ill., intends going to North Carolina this fall to take charge of a church there.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Pressnall and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Vanzomont and son and daughter, all of Indianapolis, were entertained at

The general laws of the National Council, World War Veterans provide that no charter can be issued between the National Council and the State Councils, until the State Councils have been organized. However, if the State Councils all other credentials, so that you can operate as a post of the World War Veterans with all powers given to posts of the association.

The National Council dues, payable to the Adjutant General, National Council, World War Veterans are fifty cents per year, and must be paid to the National Council in order that the member be in good standing. The sum of fifty cents per member must also be sent in with the first muster roll, otherwise no charter can be issued. These national dues cover the cost of maintaining the National Council, giving the necessary inspection, and supplying the members with the official badge and identification card. It is expected that these dues will also pay the entire expense of conducting the annual encampment.

Local dues are entirely controlled by the members of the posts themselves. The members can vote to pay as large or as small dues as they wish, depending on how far they intend to carry their activities.

It is suggested that the local dues be paid quarterly, and that in no event should they be over ten dollars per year. Less than half of that sum is suggested.

The officers of a post shall consist of a Commander, a Vice-Commander, a Junior Vice-Commander, a Chaplain, an Adjutant and a Quartermaster who shall each be elected annually. The Commander shall also appoint an officer of the guard to serve during his term of office and may at his discretion appoint a post guard in accordance with the ritual.

At the first meeting of the National Council a motion was adopted that each post Commander shall appoint a committee to be known as the Employment Committee, whose duty it shall be to co-operate with the civic and industrial bodies to secure proper employment for returned veterans who are members of the World War Veterans as heretofore stated. This committee shall be guided in this work by the Employment Committee of the National Council.

Salvation Army to Entertain Children—Money From Service Fund

August 12 is the date set for the annual free outing given by the Salvation Army for a large number of children in this city. Just how many will go, Capt. Tench says, it is impossible to estimate, but the number is expected to be well over one hundred, including the members of the Salvation Army Sunday School. Free ice cream, lemonade and lunch will be provided. Prizes will be awarded in the athletic events which are being arranged. No money will be solicited to pay the expenses of the outing as they will be paid from the Home Service fund recently raised by the Elks Lodge.

MINES ARE FORCED TO CLOSE

(By United Press)
Laporte, July 5.—Heralding an advance in the price of coal generally throughout the state local coal dealers have agreed to increase the price of the fuel here twenty-five cents a ton. This, they say is due to the increased wholesale prices and increasing freight rates.

Further reasons for this action are based on the higher wages of mining labor. Another fact which the dealer says always boost prices is the fact that the U. S. is confronted with a coal shortage for the coming winter.

Retail dealers assert they are having some difficulty obtaining coal in large quantities. Several Kentucky mines have been forced to close because of labor shortage and Cincinnati through which West Virginia products pass is short of cars.
